Poem of a Pig

There once was a pig
A pig of which was big
A man once foretold
It was a pig made of gold
This pig is lost in history
It still remains a mystery
Please put him out of his misery
If you do it will be our victory
And there will be no more trickery
The pig will no longer filled with witchery
The old gold pig will no longer be a mystery.
